

We are pleased to announce that Acadian Ambulance Service is acquiring MedicOne Medical Response's operations in Tennessee, Mississippi and Texas. MedicOne Medical Response will continue its operations in Illinois.

Since its founding in 1999, MedicOne Medical Response has become a leading frontline healthcare transportation provider. Acadian Ambulance Service, founded in 1971, is the nation's largest employee-owned ambulance service and a leader in emergency and non-emergency medical services in Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Acadian expanded into Tennessee in 2018 with the acquisition of Emergency Mobile Health Care in Memphis. The MedicOne acquisition will add Nashville to Acadian's Tennessee service area and will strengthen current operations in northern Mississippi, Memphis and Dallas.

"Both of our companies were founded with two key goals: to provide the best possible patient care and service, and to create a rewarding and fulfilling workplace for team members. MedicOne Medical Response and Acadian share a dedication to high standards in patient care and a commitment to the communities we serve," said Acadian Chairman & CEO Richard Zuschlag.

"This was a natural next step in our evolution," said Jim Reeves, Chief Executive Officer & Founder of MedicOne Medical Response. "We are excited about the commitment and resources Acadian will provide to ensure superior service for our customers and continued growth and long-term success for our hardworking employees."

Going forward, we will build on our shared tradition of excellence to best serve patients, facilities and community partners. We look forward to working with you.
